Aid Bill Last One To Debate

Cuts May Go Over Billion Dollars

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both branches of Congress now have passed 15 of the 16 money bills for the current financial year, and the goal of a fair-sized budget cut appears to be in sight.

The Senate cleared a $1,428,178,700 military construction measure Friday, its 15th fiscal 1960 appropriations bill, and now has only the foreign aid bill to debate. The House has acted on all 16.

13 to White House

Thirteen of the 16 measures actually have been sent to the White House. On these an over-all reduction of 235 million dollars below President Eisenhower's requests has been achieved.

But the biggest cut of all is almost certain to be made on foreign aid. When this measure and the two money bills still being worked on by Senate-House conferees reach the White House, the reduction is expected to exceed a billion dollars. It may reach almost a billion and a half.

Claim Big Cut

The House claimed a cut of a $1,244,000,000 in its action on the foreign aid bill, although some legislators charged this was achieved partly through legerdemain with figures.

These sources contend that the budget figure of $3,436,277,000 used by the House as Eisenhower's request for foreign aid is too high, and that thus the cut is overstated.

The two other bills which have not gone to the White House are military construction and an independent offices measure. Both are in conference between the two branches. Each will be somewhat below the budget.

Some Below Requests

The Senate, on the 15 bills which it has passed, has voted about 193 million dollars more than Eisenhower requested. But the House, on the same measures, was about $1,661,000,000 under the budget.

Of the 13 bills on which Congress has completed action, 11 were reduced below the President's request. But the other two wiped out a good part of the cuts made on the 11.

PRESIDENT UNFURLS 50-STAR FLAG — The new 50-star flag is unfurled at a White House ceremony after President Eisenhower signed a proclamation admitting Hawaii into the Union as the 50th state. President Signs Flag Design as Hawaii Is 50th

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hawaii, the jewel - like chain of islands 2,400 miles west of the mainland, has brought the United States of American to an even 50.

Using a dozen pens to sign his name, President Eisenhower proclaimed its statehood Friday. It was the second time in less than a year that he performed such a historic duty — Alaska became a state Jan. 3.

Official Next July 4

As Hawaii followed Alaska into the Union, the President also signed an executive order fixing the design of the 50-star flag. With a twinkle, he remarked that he's running out of ideas for flag designs.

The new flag, which becomes official next July 4, has the same 13 red and white stripes. But its square field in the upper left corner has nine rows of stars, arranged in staggered fashion with six and five-star rows alternating.

"All 49 states will join in welcoming the new one—Hawaii—to this Union," the President said more solemnly. "We will wish for her prosperity, security, happiness, and a growing closer relationship with all of the other states.

Ready to Do Part

"We know that she is ready to do her part to make this union a stronger nation—a stronger people than it was before because of her presence as a full sister to the other 49 states.

"So all of us say to her, Good luck."

The President began signing the documents at 4:03 p.m. Washington time. The black and white plastic pens he used were distributed to some of those present as souvenirs. The new flag, its silken folds shining, was unfurled.

Hatchet Accidentally Kills Girl in Highland

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) —A 7-year-old New York City girl died early today of injuries received when she was accidentally struck by a hatchet tossed by a playmate.

The girl, Pamela Pellettieri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Pellettieri of Brooklyn, was on a vacation trip with her parents to nearby Highland.

State police said that, while she was making a playhouse in the yard with some other youngsters about 1 p. m. Friday, a small boy in the group tossed a hatchet to another. Just as he did so, the girl stepped in its path and was hit on the head by its blunt side.

Man Is Charged With Merchandise Theft of $1,600

Accused of stealing $1,600 worth of merchandise from the Barclay Knitwear Company at 139 Cornell Street, James Dydo Evans, 44, of 102 Bruyn Avenue, was arrested Friday by Detectives Albert Hutton Jr. and Charles McCullough on a first degree grand larceny charge.

Evans pleaded innocent today before City Judge Aaron E. Klein and received an adjournment until Monday at 9 a. m. to obtain counsel. At the suggestion of Assistant District Attorney John Gotelli, Judge Klein fixed bail at $2,500 cash or $5,000 property bond.

In lieu of bail, Evans was remanded to the County jail pending the posting of bail.

According to police Evans, who was employed by the Barclay company is accused of stealing 34 and one quarter dozens of shirts and sweaters from the company, the total value of which was listed in the complaint at $1,600. The alleged thefts occurred between April and August 1.

Action On Ryan Off Till Sept.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — An appeals court judge has stayed until Sept. 21 any further action against Morgan D. Ryan of Kingston, who has been accused of bribing three town highway officials.

Will Allow Protest

The stay was granted Friday by Justice Francis Bergan of the Appellate Division, third department. The action will enable Ryan's attorneys to protest to the full Appellate Division an indictment returned against Ryan by a regular Ulster County grand jury.

The court reconvenes here next month.

Ryan, a former treasurer of the now defunct Ulster Bituminous Distributors Co., was indicted Aug. 5 on a charge of bribing the town officials in connection with purchases of road oil.

Say Judge Unauthorized

Ryan's attorneys contend that Justice William Deckelman of State Supreme Court was unauthorized to receive the indictment from the regular grand jury.

The special grand jury conducting the state-ordered kickback probe in Ulster County had indicted Ryan previously on a charge of conspiring to commit bribery. The Court of Appeals dismissed that indictment.

Week's Business in Review

Steel Negotiators May Take Warning to Heart

By WALTER BREEDE JR.
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Strikes, vacations and auto model changeovers slowed the nation's industrial machine this week. Most other lines of business activity barreled along at a fast clip.

Hopes for a quick settlement of the five-and-a-half-week-old steel walkout blew hot and cold.

Fire May Be Built

The White House, through Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, sought to build a fire under the strike negotiators.

Mitchell released a 4,000-word report crammed with statistics on wages, prices, profits, productivity and other matters in dispute. These statistics, he said, "may serve to indicate the area which exists for a settlement in which the public's interest is taken fully to account."

And, he said, the steel negotiators could reach an early settlement if they got down to brass tacks at the bargaining table.

The stock market seemed to like Mitchell's remarks—the next day the market scored its biggest advance in 21 months, with steel shares leading the way.

Stock sales totaled 11,762,210

Emergency Declared At Highland Because Of Low Water Supply

Caution Is Given on Radio Sets

Transistor Type Called Desirable

George Majestic, Gardiner, president of the Ulster County Volunteer Firmen's Association, cautions fire companies not to be too hasty in purchasing two-way radio equipment at this time. Ulster County is shortly to put into use a two-way radio communacations system for volunteer fire companies. Installation of the base stations is practically completed and the system will shortly go into use, according to Ulster County Fire Coordinator Winfred Snyder of Hurley.

In a statement, Majestic said there should be a thorough investigation for two-way radios by fire company officials before a purchase is made, "due to the fact that the vacuum tube sets are becoming obsolete." Majestic said the transistor type is now coming into use and "are the type which should be considered."

Says Firms Reliable

As far as standardization is concerned, Majestic said any reliable company making transistor receivers and transmitters can be depended upon and such sets would "be a good buy if the price" is right and the sets will do as good a job as present equipment.

In discussing the purchase of two-way radios, Majestic also called attention to the need of a

Sale on Monday Of Bowlatorium Stayed by Court

Sale of the former Ruzzo Bowlatorium property on Grand Street scheduled for noon on Monday, has been stayed by an order of Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein pending an appeal to the Appellate Division from the judgment and order of sale.

Any future sale will be dependent upon the outcome of the appeal.

$15,000 Security Posted

The former bowling alley premises, together with a parking lot opposite, was scheduled to be sold at public auction on Monday at the court house under an order of the Supreme Court in an action brought by Alessandrina Ruzzo and others against Kingston Trust Company, as executors of the estate of the late George F. Kaufman, and between Kingston Trust Company, as executor, against Victor Ruzzo, defendant by counterclaim.

23-27 Grand Street, Inc., appellant, was directed to post security in the sum of $15,000 as a condition for the granting of the stay. That bond was posted Friday in the Ulster County Clerk's office, James G. Connelly, referee, stated today.

The Bowlatorium, once the scene of important bowling contests, was acquired by the late George F. Kaufman in a mortgage default action. The Ruzzo interests now seek to recover the premises.

Rockefeller's Son, Beauty Wed at Simple Ceremony

SOGNE, Norway (AP) — The doors of the white Lutheran church opened today for the wedding of the American multimillionaire's son and the Norwegian beauty who was his family's maid.

Steven Rockefeller and Anne Marie Rasmussen chose a simple ceremony for their marriage starting with the traditional music of Wagner's wedding march.

The officiating vicar, the Rev. Olav Gautestad, added an additional touch by directing the bell ringer to play the hymn "Love From God."

He told the young couple "Your example shows that real love, which is from God, breaks down all the social and conventional barriers amongst us. To build a good home is perhaps the greatest of all arts."

Turning to the 23-year-old son of New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, he said "You, Steven Rockefeller, take with you into your new home a good inheritance."

And to the 21-year-old blonde bride, daughter of a retired grocer, he said, "We will thank you for being a good ambassador of Norway, and we hope you will be a good member of the Rockefeller family and a useful citizen of your new, great country."

Just before the ceremony, the groom's father told newsmen Steven and Anne Marie will fly to New York Sunday to spend their honeymoon somewhere in the United States.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said he and his wife will fly to Copenhagen, and the newlyweds will follow on a separate plane. They will meet in Copenhagen, he said but declined to elaborate on honeymoon plans.

Steven has done his best to keep the site of his honeymoon secret because his original plans for a

Some Help Is Gained From River

Equipment Being Rushed to Scene

Ulster County Director of Civil Defense H. Edgar Timmerman today disclosed that an emergnecy has been declared at Highland because of an acute shortage of water and residents of that area have been advised they must abide by the strict conservation restrictions until the emergency is lifted.

Town of Lloyd Supervisor John J. Gaffney, Timmerman and Harry F. Edinger, director of environment sanitation of Ulster County, are directing emergency operations to pump water from the Hudson River to a reservoir that supplies the community with water.

Repitition of 1957

For some time steps have been underway to provide more permanent solution to the water problems at Highland, in an effort to avert further shortages. Exactly two years ago today Highland's water shortage became exceedingly low and an emergency was declared until the supply was replenished by pumping water from the Hudson River to a reservoir.

Emeregncy pumps and pipeline were being rushed from the Federal depot at Wingdale to Highland, and scores of workmen from the Town of Lloyd and Ulster County were at the scene working feverishly to install the pipe and pumps to link the Hudson River with a reservoir.

Shortage Is Verified

Timmerman told The Freeman that his office was notified Friday of the water situation at Highland, and he added that the report of the shortage was verified by Supervisor Gaffney and Edinger. He said that considerable red tpe confronted officials and calls were made to Washington, D. C., before permission was given to transport the diesel pump and pipeline from the Federal depot to ease the Highland water shortage.

Timmerman said the emergency became effective late yesterday and it will not be lifted until the water shortage is eliminated and the supply is replenished. He explained that the Civil Defense organization is merely supplying equipment from the stockpile at Wingdale.

Expensive for Lloyd

"It is an expensive operation," Timmerman said, "because the Town of Lloyd will pay the cost of the work. The operation must continue and workmen will have to be on the job around the clock during this emergency at Highland to keep the pumps oiled and operating."

Timmerman recalled that a couple of years ago a water shortage existed at Ashokan reservoir and three miles of pipe were laid. After that job was completed and the pumps were started it began to rain and rain fell for a full week, providing ample water and eliminating the emergency, Timmerman said.

Must Be Used Sparingly

Residents at Highland have been notified to use water sparingly until the supply is replenished. Use of water for gardens and for washing automobiles will be prohibited during the emergency, authoritics said.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

The choral finale of the Ninth Symphony swelled:

"Do the millions, His creation,
Know Him and His works of love?
Seek Him in the heights above.
Brothers! Brothers! . . ."

There was a roar of applause. Yet, the composer could not hear it, for he was deaf. Beethoven started to lose his hearing when he was 30, before he had completed his First Symphony. Driven nearly to despair, he wrote: "It is for an artist more difficult than for any one else." Yet, loving his art, he refused to surrender—"I will take Fate by the throat; it shall not wholly overcome me"—and went on to compose his greatest works, though deaf!

During periods of emotional stress he was accustomed to write prayers, such as:

"Spirit of Spirits, who spreading Thyself through all space and through endless time . . . from chaos didst Thou command eternal order to arise . . . What moved Thee to manifest Thy power and boundless goodness? . . . Wisdom beyond measure! . . . Oh, direct my mind! . . . Oh, raise it up from this grievous depth."

Will Help East-West Understanding

Hawaiians Rejoice Over Becoming 50th State After 56-Year Effort

By HENRY HARTZENBUSCH

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii rejoiced Friday at becoming the 50th state.

The official admission day celebration has been deferred until about Thanksgiving to give the new Legislature time to arrange the ceremonies.

But this was the day that Hawaiians have been awaiting since they first petitioned Congress 56 years ago for admission as a state.

President Eisenhower's proclamation turning the dream into a reality meant the end of 59 years of territorial status for the multiracial Pacific island chain.

Have Voting Power Now

It meant that the people will be able to vote for president of the United States. Its delegation to Congress will be able to vote instead of merely observe.

Now, too, the Hawaiians choose their own governor, hitherto appointed by the president.

Gov. William F. Quinn says it will "give Hawaii the added prestige in carrying out our mission as the hub of the Pacific in promoting greater East-West understanding."

Quinn, a Republican, was sworn in immediately after Eisenhower's proclamation was issued.

A 5,000-mile telephone line from the White House in Washington to Iolani Palace, seat of the government here, was kept open so there would be no delay.

Will Gain About $800,000

Statehood will mean fiscal as well as political changes for Hawaii.

Hawaii will gain about $800,000 a year under federal grants-in-aid programs. The increase will result from contemplated legislation designed to treat Hawaii on an equal basis with the rest of the American states. But this will take time.

Fiscal experts say Hawaii's change from a territory to a state will cost each taxpayer 68 cents more a year.

Hawaiian statehood adds 585,000 people and 6,435 square miles to the Union. It will add 183,000 registered voters in the next presidential election.

U. S. May Give Out Details Today On Premier Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House was expected to announce soon, perhaps today, that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will stop at six American cities during his 12-day U. S. visit startng Sept. 15.

Khrushchev is slated to speak at the National Press Club here Sept. 16 and answer reporters' questions in a nationally televised appearance.

He will address the U.N. General Assembly in New York two days later.

Diplomatic sources said they expect Khrushcev's schedule will be announced at President Eisenhower's summer headquarters at Gettysburg, Pa., probably today but perhaps Monday.

The announcement was not expected to include precise details on Khrushcev's scheduled activities at the various stops, since these have not yet been worked out.

Subject to last-minute change, here is the proposed itinerary for Khrushchev:

Washington—about two days.
New York—about two days.
Los Angles—one day.
San Francisco—two days.
Des Moines, Iowa—one day.
Pittsburgh—one day.
Washington—three days.

Accommodations for newsmen and photographers wanting to accompany the Soviet leader are a growing problem for State Department officials.

So far 471 have asked for accreditation to the official party. Of this total 193 have asked to follow Khrushchev the whole way.

Two Pay Fines For Disturbances

John J. Albright, 21, of Box 954, Liberty, and Ronald G. Hamilton, 18, of 10 Linderman Avenue, Kingston, paid $50 fines today for disorderly conduct near the Bell Restaurant, Port Ewen, early this morning.

Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver of Esopus, before whom the two were brought by Highland state police, imposed the $50 fine on each of the men and then committed them to jail when they were unable to pay the fine. Later they obtained the money and were released.

Shortly after 2 a. m. today while State Troopers James Kaljian and Brenner were patroling the area they observed a crowd gathered near the Bell Restaurant on 9-W near Port Ewen. On investigation they found the two young men engaged in a fight. Both were placed under arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct and taken before Justice Beaver. Hamilton entered a guilty plea and was fined $50. Albright demanded an immediate hearing and after the hearing he was found guilty and fined $50. Justice Beaver said there had been numerous complaints registered by neighbors of the area of prior disturbances.

BB Pellets Hit Baptist Church; List $25 Damage

Guns figured in two complaints made to Kingston Police on Friday.

Police said someone shot holes in two colored windows of the First Baptist Church on Albany Avenue. Investigation by Patrolmen George Dougherty and Gerald Every disclosed BB pellets fired from an air rifle damaged the windows to the extent of $25. Glass in a bulletin board on the front lawn of the church also was damaged.

Patrolman Edward Edwards investigated a report that someone was discharging rifle on the south side of Rondout Creek. The shots were directed toward Island Dock. The sheriff's office also was notified.

Widowville, on a county road east of Mansfield, Ohio, was so named because so many women, widowed by the Civil War, settled there.

20,000 in Queens Swelter in New Power Blackouts

NEW YORK (AP)—About 21,000 New Yorkers sweltered through two more power blackouts Friday and early today. But neither was as serious as Manhattan's mass power failure last Monday, which lasted 12 hours and affected half a million people.

Friday night and today's most serious blackout inconvenienced an estimated 20,000 people living on a three-mile stretch of Rockaway Peninsula, in Queens.

The lights winked out on the strip of land, which juts into the Atlantic Ocean, at 10:43 p.m. and came back on at 1:01 a.m. The population is largely made up of summer residents and vacationers.

The second Manhattan blackout, which lasted only an hour Friday came at twilight. A fashionable one-block apartment house area near Central Park West was involved. About 1,000 persons live there.

The section was one of the 500 blocks stricken on Monday.

The Manhattan failure was blamed on an underground power cable which grounded out. The Queens failure resulted from water seeping into a major fuse, causing a short circuit.

Moves to Patch Up Church Differences

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — President Francois Duvalier has moved to patch up his differences with Roman Catholic Church leaders.

The president suspended an order Friday for the arrest of the Catholic archbishop of Port au Prince, Msgr. Francois Poirier, after the Vatican had warned Haitian officials they faced excommunication from the church if the order were carried out.

The government ordered the arrest Thursday after the archbishop had criticized the government for expelling two French priests, the Rev. Etienne Grinenberger and the Rev. Joseph Arrec, for "reasons of internal security."

Dutchess to Push Probe in Death Of Window Washer

Dutchess County and Poughkeepsie Police officials will continue investigation of the death of Oda Rich, 47, Rosendale window washer, who was killed on August 12, when his life belt broke and he plunged from a fourth floor window of the Dutchess County courthouse.

Police Chief John L. Martin of Poughkeepsie, told The Freeman today that the belt undewent several examinations at the New York City Police department laboratory, and close examination disclosed "a clean break" in the belt. The chief said it appeared the belt had been cut with a sharp instrument.

Fibers Not Similar

"A knife and a razor blade found in Rich's possession on the day of his death, showed no fibers similar to those at the break in the belt," the chief said.

Friday morning, the chief with Detective Sergeant James Murphy and Detective Francis 'Pete' Doerr took the belt to the office of Dutchess County District Attorney Raymond C. Baratta, where a conference was held.

"On further examination at the point of the cut in the belt," Chief Martin said, "It was evident the belt broke clean similar to a broken cracker. During the conference the county and city officials decided to return the belt to the New York City laboratory for further examination.

Martin, Baratta and Doerr went to New York City Friday with the belt and another examination indicated tha some solution of undetermined type was on the belt.

No Foul Play Indicated

However, the chief said, at this point of the investigation there is no indication of "foul play." Pending a formal inquest to be conducted soon by Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester Golding, authorities consider Rich's death as accidental according to Martin. As yet the stiffness of the belt at the point where it broke has not been explained.

Dr. E. Alan Larkin, Dutchess county's assistant medical examiner, had said on the day after the tragedy that one reason why the belt was being tested was for evidence of possible tampering.

Emergency...

and Highland both went through an emergency due to a water shortage and for two days workmen worked feverishly to lay pipeline and install pumps between the Hudson River and a reservoir. On August 3, 1957, Town of Lloyd officials disclosed there was only a 5-day supply of water in the Highland reservoir.

While emergency operations were underway at Highland officials were preparing treatment equipment for chlorination of the water when the link from the river to the reservoir is made.

May Finish Tomorrow

For the last several days, Highland and Town of Lloyd officials have been quite concerned over the dwindling supply of water.

Word has gone out to residents of the Highland sector that they must comply with emergency restrictions regarding the use of water. It was understood the pipeline would not be completed until sometime tomorrow, when pumping operations will be started and that work will continue through the emergency.

Rocky Doubts 1960 Draft

KRISTIANSAND, Norway (AP) —Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he does not believe there will be any move to draft him as the Repbublican candidate for the presidency.

The New York governor made the statement at a news conference. He is here for the marriage of his son Steven to Anne Marie Rasmussen.

He repeated that he is not a candidate and that he would not be interested in being the nominee for vice president. Asked to comment on the possibility of a move to draft him, he said:

"I don't think there is any such thing."

He said he did not anticipate any action to draft him. Reporters asked if he would accept the GOP nomination on such terms. His answer was lost in a chorus of succeeding questions. When the question was repeated, he replied, "I said no."

Rockefeller has said he might change his position with respect to becoming a candidate for the nomination under certain circumstances. Reporters asked again whether his decision would be based on the findings of public opinion polls. He said he would not discuss the situation when questioned about the circumstances that could make him a presidential candidate.

Twice, Rockefeller burst into laughter when a reporter addressed him as "Mr. Roosevelt."

"That man must be a Democrat," he said.

Wage Freeze Would Be Pay Cut, McDonald Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald says the new record cost-of-living index shows that the steel industry, by asking workers to freeze wages, was actually asking them to take a pay cut.

McDonald made his statement Friday. Despite several rumors of settlement, it appeared both sides weren't much closer together than when the strike began 39 days ago.

Due Back Wednesday

McDonald, who has been out of negotiations for two weeks, comes back on Wednesday. At that time, the strike will be 43 days old—the second longest since World War II.

The steel industry claims that in refusing to grant wage demands of the union it is holding the line against inflation. The union claims wage increases for steelworkers have traditionally followed inflation—not caused it.

McDonald, who has been out of the steel talks because he said he felt they weren't making any progress, cited the announcement of a record cost-of-living index:

"It is significant," he said, "that the peak figure made public today has come after a full year period when regular steelworker wage rates have not increased in the slightest.

Seen as Typical

This is a typical example," he continued, "of the steel industry's complete lack of concern for the welfare of its employes and their families."

In Pittsburgh, a union statement said that the cost of living increase in just the past few months would require an increase of two cents an hour just to restore steel wages to last year's levels, in terms of purchasing power.

The union seeks a 15-cent hourly package increase for each year of any new contract. Wage rates before the strike average $3.11 an hour.

Widespread reports of a settlement in the industry followed government publication of a fact-finding report on the strike by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell.

Both sides interpreted the report as favorable to their position.

The government report drew no conclusions from the facts. Mitchell said, however, that hard bargaining could produce settlement soon.

THE ADDICT RETURNS

The other day a federal judge found himself confronted with five separate cases of theft and forgery related to narcotics addiction. After he had sent all five to the U.S. Public Health Service hospital at Lexington, Ky., he uttered some impromptu remarks on the inadequacy of our system for handling such cases.

These remarks, made by Judge William B. Herlands of New York, underline a problem that affects every community. Our society does not deal wisely with drug addicts. Many backslide after institutional care and commit additional crimes to obtain the narcotics they crave.

"The court is shocked," said Judge Herlands, "by the large number of these narcotics cases, and the institutions really serve as nothing more than a revolving door." In his view, the problem is basically medical. That conclusion is sound, and so is the judge's assertion that there should be more intensive cooperation among doctors, health authorities and scientists to find solutions.

In cases involving narcotics addiction, the courts can act only within the framework of existing medical and public health facilities. A judge can send a man for a "cure," but if the man returns to court after institutional care the judge has no recourse but to commit the offender for additional care.

There is no intention of suggesting that scientists and public health men are sitting on their hands. Progress toward better handling of narcotics cases is being made. But the need for more intensive research is clear.

LEARNING'S EXCITING

The educator and the parent more than usually interested in education keep returning to that central question: What makes a first-rate teacher? Much hinges upon the answer, yet definitions of the superior teacher are many and varied.

Recently a group of educators offered this evocative definition: "A superior teacher is one who makes learning exciting." This group also said that the ultimate objective of teaching should be "to create an inner teacher hidden within the student that motivates him to continue his education throughout life."

Here is something worth some cogitation. There is a close relationship between the idea of an "inner teacher" within the student and the concept of making it interesting and exciting to learn. The implications of this are often bypassed even by those most deeply concerned with improving education.

The old method of learning by rote has long been outmoded. In some cases, the pendulum has swung so far that the learning process often seems to have been made secondary to a pleasant classroom experience. Neither learning by rote nor what might be called learning by accident gets the desired results.

The chances are much better if the student is thoroughly interested, if his attention is captured to such an extent that he becomes eager to learn and willing to work at it. Superior teachers, those who "make learning exciting," have always captured the attention of students. More of their kind are needed.

INDUSTRY AND EDUCATION

One of the happy developments of the time has been industry's increasing support of higher education in the United States.

Gifts from corporations to our colleges and universities totaled $40 million in 1953. They came to $136 million last year. And the 1959 total is expected to reach $150 million.

The American Economic Foundation gives two reasons why corporations feel more and more of a responsibility toward higher education. For one thing, business needs the trained manpower thus produced. For another, corporation officers want to preserve and nourish the traditional American ideal of educational opportunity.

Still a third factor must also play a big role in framing the attitude of business. That is the desire to keep education out of the hands of federal bureaucrats — who would call the tune if the colleges and universities were supported with federal money. Keeping education free of political dictation is the most important need of all.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

UNDESIRABLE POLICE FORCE

What is altogether undesirable in this country is a national police, but many who agree to this proposition often advocate measures which logically bring such a body into existence. J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, has always resisted the efforts of well-meaning persons to load down the FBI with the functions of the local police.

When a bomb is thrown at a building with the object of destroying it, this is a matter for the local police. During the past year or two, some synagogues and church buildings have been bombed or defaced. There can be little question but that some "hate" organization is responsible for this manifestation of ill-will. There are many "hate" groups and they hate different things, although some of them have now reached a degree of antipathy that they hate everything that is different from what they are. There is also no question but that the willful destruction of property is a criminal act, punishable in our courts under existing law.

Representative Carlton Loser of Tennessee has introduced a measure, which has passed the House Judiciary Committee and which would, as worded, require the FBI to investigate any type of fire or explosion or bombing, including labor disputes, if there is a possibility that those perpetrating the act crossed state lines. This would enlarge the functions of the FBI beyond its capacity, either as to manpower or as to budget. It would also delegate to the FBI a task which is strictly local and which the local police anywhere in the United States should be able to handle if they attend to their business and are not fearful of local pressure groups.

The danger of developing a national police force is greater than the danger to the nation of some bigot managing to evade the local police. The bigot who permits himself to destroy life or property will sooner or later be discovered and punished; however, the national police force can become a permanent institution. It is true that the people of this country have confidence in Hoover and recognize that he does not permit the FBI to be used for political purposes or to supress opposition to those in power. However, Hoover will not always head the FBI and a national police force could be used by an unscrupulous person for deleterious purposes if he were so disposed.

As the legislation is written, the language is so broad that persons concerned with bombings would expect the Bureau to intervene in every case to discover whether Federal law applied, even if the bombings were the product of gangsters' wars.

Furthermore, it would seem that the FBI is already concerned with the bombing of churches or synagogues because of its duties in protecting civil liberties. One of the liberties which all Americans enjoy is the right to worship God in whatever way each individual chooses or not worship at all. The denial of religious liberty is the denial of the constitutional right of any person living upon American soil. Therefore, no new legislation is really required to permit FBI intervention in a case involving the bombing or defacing of a church or synagogue. That duty is already theirs.

It is important that the role of the local police be preserved. The primary responsibility for the protection of life and property must rest with the local authorities. The tendency to drag the Federal Government into every phase of American life has not proved out over the past 20 years, and the FBI has strictly avoided becoming an agency for Federal aggression against the local government.

It is not wholesome for local police forces to develop undue dependence upon the FBI which has no function in labor disputes, contested local elections, gang wars, etc.

Many new problems arise each year, some out of the usual disturbed social conditions after wars, some out of household maladjustments in a transitional period. Such matters as the bombing of churches and synagogues are undoubtedly due to the social changes arising out of intergration of Negroes in the South, some persons organizing to withstand the law.

Under present jurisdiction, such questions are limited to the states nd local communities and there they should remain, unless there is absolute evidence of violation of constitutional rights of individual citizens whose civil rights are to be preserved.

'May I Be Excused?' Gives Child a Welcome 'Out'

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

An aunt, two uncles, three grandparents and a big girl cousin were at Henry's house for the weekend. At dinner, Henry ate so much succotash that he lost his appetite for his peach shortcake. He also lost it for the grownups' conversation.

At his end of the table, Aunt Myrt was describing a new rug shampoo; and at the other his father and uncles were arguing a candidate's political chances.

So Henry's interest wandered back to the tortoise he'd found in the weeds behind the garage. Deciding to check on its whereabouts, he was scrambling down from his chair when his mother caught him and said, "If you want to leave the table, say 'May I be excused?'"

After wriggling for a moment, Henry said it—and the disapproval on his relatives' faces relaxed. Instead of glaring at him, everyone smiled benignly on him as he ran off to locate his tortoise.

Learing to say "May I be excused?" at grownup parties is good for little boys and girls.

When grownups become intolerably boring, it enables the little ones to withdraw without criticism. It's our substitute for the old-fashioned nursery that separated children and adults at mealtimes in recognition of their different interests.

Today, it's fashionable to pretend that children's interests are identical with ours. So we become offended when they show their boredom with us by running away from the table. But if they temper their rejection of us by asking politely, "May I be excused?", they make us feel powerful and important again so that we don't mind setting them free.

Sometimes parents try to solve the problem of children's restlessness at the table by trying to direct the conversation to their interests. We'll say to Henry, "Tell Mr. Brown about the new puppies they've got next door, dear."

Usually, such attempts to compel our guests' interest in children's affairs are as unsuccessful as our efforts to compel Henry's interest in politics and rug shampoos. If we want to be genuinely courteous to both Mr. Brown and Henry, we'll accept their difference in interests instead of pretending it doesn't exist.

Grownup parties often end in irritated guests and children's tantrums because the children have not been taught when to say, "May I be excused?"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — How the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education — COPE — collected, and where it failed to collect, on its 1958 Congressional campaign contributions is shown graphically by the two House votes on passage of the bipartisan Landrum-Griffin labor bill.

On the first ballot, 184 Democrats and 17 Republicans voted against passage. COPE had made political campaign contributions to 115 of the Democrats and two of the Republicans. COPE contributions to this group totaled $205,431. All but $3,400 went to the Democrats. The two Republicans aided were Bennett (Mich.) $3,000, and Tollefson (Wash.) $400.

ANOTHER interesting detail of this first ballot is that there were seven Democrats who got COPE aid in 1958, but who voted for the tough Landrum-Griffin bill.

They were Breeding (Kans.) $500, Johnson (Md.) $250, Lankford (Md.) $250, Hull (Mo.) $500, Morris (N. M. $250, Everett (Tenn.) $500 and Downing (Va.) $500.

These figures and others given below are taken from reports filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives.

When the second ballot, on final passage of the labor bill came next day, 59 of the 184 Democrats who originally voted against it switched their vote for it. Of these 59 Democrats, 28 had received no campaign contribution from COPE. The other 31 had received contributions, but did not let them influence their votes. They were:

Ashley (Ohio) $2,250, Aspinall Colo.) $500, Baring (Nev.) $4,500, Bass (Tenn.) $250, Brown (Mo.) $1,800, Burke (Ky.) $250, Clark (Pa.) $3,750, Coad (Ia.) $250, Coffin (Maine) $2,500, Cook (Ohio) $1,000, Fogarty (R. I.) $3,000, Friedel (Md.) $1,250, George (Kan.) $250, Griffiths (Mich.) $1,000, Hachler (W.Va.) $4,750, Johnson (Colo.) $4,650, King (Utah) $350, Lesinski (Mich.) $500, McDowell (Del.) $1,000, McGovern (S. D.) $4,450, Mack (Ill.) $3,000, Moeller (Ohio) $500, Monagan (Conn.) $250, Morris (Okla.) $500, Pfost (Idaho) $2,750, Quigley (Pa.) $3,750, Rogers (Colo.) $1,500, Roush (Ind.) $750, Stratton (N. Y.) $2,700, Stubblefield (Ky.) $1,000, and Wolf (Iowa) $2,250.

THERE WERE 121 Democrats, therefore, who voted "right" on both ballots—as far as labor unions were concerned—against passage of the Landrum-Griffin bill. Forty of them got No COPE money. COPE contributions to the other 81 in 1958 total $145,331. They were:

Addonizio (N.J.) $3,750, Anderson (Mont.) $3,500, Bailey (W.Va.) $3,500, Blatnik (Minn.) $500, Bolling (Mo.) $7,050, Bowles (Conn.) $4,113, Boyle (Ill.) $3,400, Brademas (Ind.) $900, Burdick (N.D.) $1,000, Burke (Mass.) $1,750, Cohelan (Calif.) $3,500, Daddario (Conn.) $5,750, Wawson (Ill.) $100, Delaney (N.Y.) $2,500, Dent (Pa.) $2,050, Denton (Ind.) $1,750, Dingell (Mich.) $250, Donohue (Mass.) $500, Dulski (Neb.) $1,500, Farbstein (N.Y.) $250, Feighan (O.) $1,500, Flood (Pa.) $3,000, Flynn (Wis.) $400, Forand (R.I.) $1,500, Garmatz (Md.) $893, Granahan (Pa.) $1,350, Gray (Ill.) $2,000, Green (Ore.) $2,500, Hays (O.) $250, Hogan (Ind.) $550, Holland (Pa.) $3,750, Johnson (Calif.) $1,200, Johnson (Wis.) $2,200, Karsten (Mo.) $1,250, Karth (Minn.) $5,500, Kasem (Calif.) $2,100, Kastenmeier (Wis.) $1,400, King (Calif.) $1,000, Kirwan (Ohio) $250, Kowalski (Conn.) $1,000.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

COPENHAGEN — Parting from Soviet Russia was a sweet sorrow sweetened more by a young American woman standing at one of the jumble of high desks in the airport demanding a dollar from a dumb but dogged robot under a bureaucrat's cap. There were perhaps three hundred persons, mostly Americans trying to escape the workers' paradise. The Russian ship is a jet with two burners or engines converted from its original purpose of bombing the enemy, primarily of course, us. They fly westward to Copenhagen, which was my destination, Warsaw, Leningrad, Stockholm and Paris.

This American girl had a small face with small, pretty features including a chin with a firm line of determination and fire, not tears, in her eyes. We had all been chased from pillar to post by false currents instigated in the crowd. First my porter took me to the weighing desk. Then I was pointed to the passport desk, thence to the desk where the Soviet government confiscates leftover rubles. Now, after an hour of harassment, I was back at the high desk before the robot in the cap.

"Young lady," I said, "I probably can't do any good but if you like, I can stay here and help you suffer."

"These people took $21 away from me," she said. "They have given me back $20. I earned that other dollar. It is my money. I am not leaving without it."

Another oaf in a cap laid hold of my typwriter and was trying to fasten the kind of tag for baggage for the cargo hold. Experience taught me long ago never to let a typewriter go into the hold. I wrestled him for it, vaguely claiming royal privilege on account of my illusory status as a member of Vice President Nixon's party. This machine weighs 17 pounds and I probably was well over my free limit already with my hard-shell immigrant case, which cost me $5 in the arcade in Geneva back in the dawn of summitry in 1955.

The night before getaway, at the postal counter in the Ukraine Hotel, a big wide female had kept me waiting a half-hour for air mail stamps for a mail story while she entertained by a Red Chinaman. I had fixed the manager with a mad glare and hollored, "Anyone around here got authority to fire this one?"

I had had previous traffic with this undulating mass of lard. She understood English. The headman asked, "What is wrong?" I said "Call Khrushchev and tell this one to Siberia tonight.

She smiled, weighed my envelope, sold me the stamps and pointed to the box where air mail newspaper copy goes into a standard quarantine for ten days. The Red Chink studied a sheet of stamps with a lovely painting of a squirrel—or rat. These Reds are mostly starvation fat. Like Raymond Hitchcock in the drugstore scene long ago, the bum seemed unable to decide which stamp he liked most.

A sort of hysteria sets in after a while in Russia. The tourist bureau had whipsawed me out of a first class seat on this frowsy jet which I had reserved, confirmed and paid for five days before. Now I was steerage. The Soviet monopoly gets first crack at the traffic by loading its kites until the hatches bulge before letting any overset go to the Scandinavian, French or British lines. So, sometimes these foreign ships go out with vacancies.

I had to roll out, report in the lobby, packed and crouching to spring at 5:50. Intourist sent a car to take me to the field, the second car in all my time in Moscow although I had paid in advance in New York for a car and guide every day.

At six a. m., women in heavy overalls were already digging with pick and shovel on our western railroads. These poor, faceless, shapeless objects had not been born when Lenin and Trotsky promised pie in the sky. They will work with pick and shovel till they die. The distinction between men and women is the babushka. Men wear caps.

At the counter where the left-over rubles are stolen, Mrs. Colin Sutherland, a Canadian, expressed admiration for the American girl standing her ground demanding her dollar. Mrs. Sutherland gave up her rubles, smiled good bye, festooned herself with small duffel and was swept away. I gave up $50 in rubles. They are worthless outside Russia but perhaps, one day, Intourist will reverse the Red government's policy on lend-lease and send me a check.

I joined a stampede for a big door which was locked. Now the field reversed itself and charged another door at the opposite end of the hall. The first were last—and vice versa. A robot was blocking traffic handing out passports to all comers. I reached over some shoulders and plucked mine out of a sheaf.

I had kept a vow to myself taken three weeks before departure from New York not to drink a drop until Russia was behind me. The jet ran 35 seconds and was off the ground. It was stuffy with no nozzles for ventilation. The upholstery was frayed and stringy. Seats were five abreast. It was the noisiest ride I can remember. The stewardess, as big as a hippo, came down the narrow aisle serving trays of garbage. I kept peering down. At last I saw a faint wisp of surf of the Baltic, Russia was behind us.

I rang for the hippo and whispered, "water!"

"Pink," she asked, "or white?" Pink is cherry pop. I took white and halved it with a double ounce of nutritious, character-building, god-fearing booze.

Civilization dawned again.

And this morning a note came from Mrs. Sutherland in London reporting that the American girl, "such a lovely type; I had picked her out before the incident," had got her dollar and made it to Amsterdam.

God"s in his heaven!

Spade Slam Is Easy to Make

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

North's two heart bid was the Jacoby transfer forcing South to bid spades and the four no-trump was Blackwood.

Since South was declarer the final six spade contract was a lay-down. He was able to discard one of dummy's hearts on his king of clubs.

With North as declarer East would probably open a heart and there would be no way to avoid the loss of two tricks.

Incidentally South can also make six no-trump if he plays skillfully. The best defense is an ace of clubs opening followed by a spade shift.

South should run all six spades and discard a club, diamond and heart. Then he should return to his hand with the king of diamonds and cash the king of clubs. West will have to discard down to one heart in order to guard the diamonds.

Next come three rounds of diamonds and East will have to go down to one heart also in order to keep the jack of clubs. South will then make two heart tricks without ever having to worry about which opponent holds the king.

Teacher Cites Examples of Overprivileged Teen-Agers

A high school teacher casually mentioned something about overprivileged teen-agers. When I asked her what she meant by the term, she cited a few examples from observing students at her own public high school.

According to this teacher an overprivileged teen-ager is one who—

Expects — and gets — not only a driver's license the year he is old enough to drive, but a car of his own as well.

Charges an orchid corsage to his dad whenever the teen-ager takes a girl to a formal dance.

Expects a pat on the head from mother and dad for making a mere passing grade.

Tells her mother she would rather stay home from a dance than wear the same party dress twice with the same crowd — and gets her mother's sympathy, and a new dress.

Expects her mother to get the car out and drive her distances she could walk in five minutes because she doesn't want to be seen walking.

Volunteers her mother's services as hostess, chauffeur, cookie maker, or whatever, without first checking to see if it is convenient for the mother or even considering that it might be a job she could do herself.

Has a mother who lets him sleep until noon during summer vacation because he stays out late every night and "needs his rest."

"And," claims this teacher, "these overprivileged teen-agers are far more numerous than you might think. Often it takes two parents to keep them from feeling underprivileged."

EATING SANDWICHES ON TRAIN TRIP

Dear Mrs. Post: My girl friend and I will be taking an overnight train trip soon to another city. We will travel by coach. She suggested that we take some sandwiches from home to eat on the train rather than go into the dining car where the food is quite expensive. Much as I would like to save this extra money, I do not feel that it would be proper to do as she suggests. Will you please give me your opinion.

Answer: If you eat with care and allow no bits of food or even crumbs to fall onto the seats or floor of the coach, there will be nothing improper in bringing and eating your sandwiches.

Concerning Table Manners

Dear Mrs. Post: I believe you have said that when buttering vegetables on your plate they may be buttered with the fork only—not at any time with the knife. When the butter is on an individual plate, how is the butter to be transferred from the plate to the vegetables? Do you mean that the fork is used to cut off a portion of the butter on the butter plate and then transefrred to the vegetables?

Answer: If we must be mincingly correct, we put the right amount of butter on our plate near the potato with our butter knife, then we lift the butter with the fork to the top of the potato and mash it with the fork. I have to write this because it is a rule that we must not take a knife and smooth the butter over the potato. Of course, it is correct to use a knife to butter corn on the cob. But the real tabu is for potato, this prohibition must have begun as a protest against a smeary-bladed meat knife, otherwise I agree it does seem too much fuss about nothing.

Inviting an Engaged Couple

Dear Mrs. Post: Must a friend's fiance, who is a stranger to me, be invited to my wedding and reception. In other words, would it be wrong to invite her and not him?

Answer: Correctly, an engaged couple are invited everywhere together.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-17, entitled, "Introductions," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman), PO Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

Bahama Weekends Stop For Pentagon Officers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high Air Force official promises its officers will accept no more invitations from a big aircraft company to spend weekends at a plush club in the Bahama Islands.

Asst. Air Force Secretary Philip B. Taylor conceded to House investigators Friday it "didn't look good" for Pentagon officers to be the guests of the Martin Co. on these outings.

Martin is one of the biggest aircraft and missile manufacturers. One of its officials last week told the investigating subcommittee about inviting officers to expense-paid weekends at the Eleutheria Club in the Bahamas.

Attractive Walk Is Easy to Build

All it takes to construct an eye-catching walk or terrace are concrete and imagination. The concrete slabs can be purchased precast, or cast in place in your yard.

By using slabs of various colors in striking combinations or by arranging them into designs or patterns, you can create a distinctive and functional walk or terrace that will emphasize the beauty of your house and yard.

A new wrinkle in walks is a random recessed design on the face of the slab. To produce the unusual wavy lines, concrete is poured over wrinkled newspaper or waxed paper lining the bottom of the forms. After the concrete sets, the forms are reversed, revealing rough recessed patterns.

A checkered design is achieved by alternating slabs of different colors between 24-inch dividers of durable wood, such as redwood. The checkerboard motif can extend from a walk into a terrace of alternating sections of concrete or colored gravel and grass.

Massena Auto Workers To Strike If Talks Fade

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) —United Auto Workers employed at the new Chevrolet plant here have voted to strike if negotiations for their first contract collapse.

Members of Local 465 of the UAW decided on the strike action Friday by a 508-18 vote. No strike deadline was announced.

The union claims 680 members among employes at the General Motors' Chevrolet Division plant, which began operations recently.

Dan Maxwell, president of the local, said the union and GM were negotiating on wages, seniority, shift preferences and working conditions.

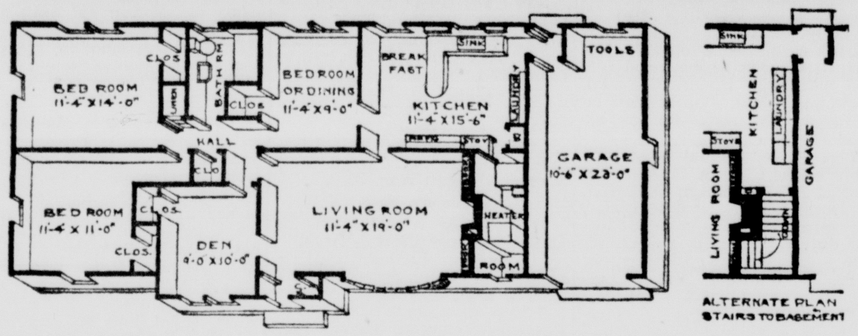
Another bargaining session is scheduled for Tuesday.

Outstanding Airman

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sergeant stationed at Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome, N. Y., has been cited as the outstanding airman of the year in the Air Research and Development Command.

M. Sgt. Perry C. Bishop, 40, was given the award yesterday by Lt. Gen. B. A. Schriever, commander of the ARDC.

Schriever praised Bishop for his efforts in improving personnel management procedures and fostering high morale at the Air Development Center at Griffiss.



'Brannock' Is Spacious And Rambling

Rooms ..... Six
Bedrooms ..... Three
Closets ..... Eight
Cubage ..... 23,000 ft.
Dimensions ..... 60' x 24'

Spacious and rambling, "The Brannock," presented today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, has six good-sized rooms on its one floor.

One of the most attractive features of this house—both inside and out—is the large bay window in the living room. The peaked roof over the den and front entrance makes a pleasing break in the straight lines of the house. Shingles or clapboards are suggested for the exterior; multi-colored roofing will add a gay and attractive touch.

As shown in the accompanying plan, this house can be built either with or without a basement. Space is provided on the ground floor for your heating plant if you choose to build without a basement. Stairs to the basement can be placed in this area, however, if you decide to have a cellar. Then, of course, the heating plant should be located under the living room.

Measuring 60 by 24 feet, today's house has a cubage of 23,000 feet. These figures apply when the house is built without a cellar. At least an 80-foot lot would be required to build this ranch type home.

Can Have More Bedrooms

Although there are but two regular bedrooms provided for, you can actually have four if you need them. In addition to the two bedrooms in the left wing, there is a den and a dining room — either or both of which can be used as bedrooms. All of these rooms are well lighted and ventilated; each contains good closet storage space.

Should you decide to use the dining room as another bedroom, you'll find the living room sufficiently large — and conveniently arranged to do double duty. Since the kitchen contains a large breakfast nook you can easily—if you so desire—save the dining area for festive occasions.

In the right section of the kitchen space is set aside for your home laundry equipment. You'll find the service entrance conveniently near when you're hanging out and taking in the family laundry.

Generous Storage Space

Throughout this house there is a generous amount of storage space including a large linen closet and a general purpose closet which opens on the central hallway and can easily be converted into a cedar closet. As a cedar closet you'll find it a very handy off-season storage place for your family's winter clothing as well as for household articles.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other homes in this series are available. Address requests to Home of the Week Plan Service, Dept. KF, 87 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.

Straining Paint

A piece of an old nylon stocking makes an excellent strainer for paint. Tie a double thickness over the mouth of a clean paint pot by wrapping string around the top just below the rim. Let the nylon material sag slightly in the middle to form a sort of well. Then pour the paint into the center and let it drip through. Stirring with a smooth stick will help speed up the process.

Many Ups and Downs

When an elevator is installed in its shaft, the expectation is that it will stay there practically forever. That's why the baked enamel that goes on elevator wall panels, ceilings and doors must keep its attractive appearance despite the constant wear and tear it must endure through many years of uninterrupted service.

Stairway Gives House Dignity

One of the most effective ways to give a house beauty and dignity is with a graceful stairway.

Home owners intent on remodeling or families planning to build can obtain complete stairways in styles ranging from traditional to modern from building material dealers.

These "packaged" stairways, made of ponderosa pine and selected hardwoods, are composed of parts machined for each other at the factory and sanded smooth, ready for assembly.

The dealers also carry stock stairway parts, including a wide range of styles in newels, rails, balusters, starting steps, treads and risers.

Closed-Grained Floor Is Easiest to Clean

A close-grained hardwood floor is the easiest to keep clean. Species include maple and birch (northern grown woods). Application of a reliable penetrating sealer does the trick.

A final application of wax is not necessary as the sealer develops the natural beauty of the wood, bringing out the highlights of its natural varying color. The result is a floor with a satin-like sheen, which never requires scrubbing. Light brushing to take up dust is recommended, however.

Easy to Clean

One of the functions of a good furniture finish is to provide sanitation and cleanliness. Unfinished wood collects and holds dirt. Because of the wood's porous nature, dirt, grease and bacteria become embedded in it and are difficult to dislodge. A well finished wood surface is beautiful and easy to clean.

Spread Out the Carpet

Carpets are important in sound-proofing a house as well as for improving appearances. Carpets not only deaden the footfall but also kill echoes in rooms.

Safe Lighting

For safety, you should have outdoor lighting for your walks and driveways.

Next Saturday Is Preview Shopping Day at New Store

A preview shopping date has been announced for the new Robert Hall clothing center on Albany Avenue Extension, near Chambers School. It is Saturday, Aug. 29.

The coast-to-coast chain is holding a giant back-to-school jamboree next Saturday in its 290 salesrooms, offering free gifts and refreshments to children accompanied by adults.

Grand opening day at the new center here is scheduled for September.

During the jamboree newest fashions in boys' and girls' school clothing will be on display at special prices.

Heat Bounces Off Light Roof

A light-color roof and a properly ventilated attic can make air conditioning far more comfortable and economical.

The light-color roofing—such as a white or pastel roof of asphalt shingles—reflects much of the sun's heat, keeping it outside.

In many parts of the country, home owners who have installed air-conditioning systems in their present house have re-roofed with white asphalt shingles because of their heat-reflecting quality, even when their old roofs were in good condition.

Many architects who design air-conditioned houses specify white asphalt shingles on the roof as a standard practice.

A properly ventilated attic prevents a "build-up" of heat under the roof by letting it escape outside through louvers in the gable ends.

Color Repetition Will Unify Room

It is best not to exceed three colors in decorating a room. These three colors may show in floor covering, walls, furniture and hangings.

One color should be bright for accent. Choose colors for walls and floor coverings first because these are the biggest areas of color. Light painted walls always contrast well with dark floor coverings.

Do not hesitate to repeat the same colors over and over in the same room. Color repetition will unify the room and its furnishings.

Consider Basement For Sleeping Area

If you are seeking extra bedrooms for your growing family, you might consider using your basement for sleeping purposes, suggests the Better Basement Institute. It says the basements can be made as light, dry and livable as other rooms above grade.

It warns, however, that safety considerations require that a basement used for sleeping purposes should have a direct exit to the outdoors. Customary basement exits of this type consist of wood or concrete steps to the yard covered with a metal hatchway which is easy to open from the inside but can also be locked against intruders.

Enamels and Lacquers

The Greeks and Romans of ancient times were skilled in the art of vitreaus enameling. Ancient Egyptian and Assyrian rulers used enameled bricks of many tints and great beauty for the decoration of their palaces.

Man Badly Burned After Truck Hits Rails, Catches Fire

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—A man burned over 90 per cent of his body in a fire that destroyed a tractor-trailer truck remained in critical condition today.

William Thatcher, 18, of Buffalo, was riding in the truck that crashed into a guard rail on Route 20 and caught fire Friday. He was taken to Ellis Hospital in Schenectady.

The driver, Glen Gipe, 22, of Baltimore, Md., was treated at the hospital for minor burns and discharged.

State Police said the truck's brakes apparently locked and the vehicle swerved across the highway eight miles west of Albany. A guard post punctured the gasoline tank and the truck burst into flames.

Welfare Recipients Complain of Mosquitoes

CANTON, N. Y. (AP) — Are mosquitoes bothersome?

Yes, say 14 welfare recipients who quit work in a woodlot.

They're no worse there than on the nearby county farm, says Welfare Commissioner Lee W. Finley of St. Lawrence County.

The men are required by county law to accept jobs offered them if they want to receive relief.

Friday, they laid down their tools and stopped working.

The mosquitoes are "bothersome," they claimed. Furthermore, they contended, the county had refused to provide them with insect repellent.

Finley said his budget did not contain funds to purchase repellent.

"These men should try to spend a dollar for their own (repellent) like everyone else does, if they feel the need of it that bad, instead of spending it on beer," Finley said.

The commissioner blamed the work stoppage on "agitators seeking a test case."

He said the pay of the men working in the woodlot was figured at $1 an hour. One who receives a welfare check of $30 is required to work 30 hours, he explained.

One Man Found Dead In Forest; Other Out

REDFIELD, N. Y. (AP)—One of two men who disappeared in dense woods has been found hanging in a tree. The other man walked safely from the forest.

Searchers discovered the body of John Balcom, 62, of South Redfield, Friday, hanging high in a hemlock tree. Authorities said he apparently had climbed the tree to hang himself.

Garrett S. Jones, 74, of Scriba, emerged from the woods on a road near North Osceola, Lewis County. He became lost Thursday while on a fishing trip.

Balcom last was seen Tuesday on a farm, where he lived with his brother. Coroner Thomas A. Cox of Oneida County issued a certificate of suicide.

Jones said he had been chilly during his overnight stay in the woods but he apparently suffered no ill effects.

Bandit Gets $358 In Daring Holdup

NEW YORK (AP) — A well-dressed, white-haired bandit pulled a daring $358 holdup Friday in a ticket office off the busy lobby of the Hotel Astor in the heart of Times Square.

Sue Day, 29-year- old clerk for Trans World Airlines, said the man, in his fifties, appeared when she was alone, pointed a black revolver at her face and said: "Okay, let's have the money."

When Miss Day said she didn't have any money, the gunman ordered, "Open that drawer."

The drawer was the cash box. Miss Day handed the man the money and he fled.

Hospital Lists Disbrow as Fair

Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill described the condition of Clarence Albert Disbrow, 45-year-old Palenville plumbing contractor as "fair," today.

Disbrow and his wife, Mrs. Barbara Disbrow, 45, were victims of an assault last Sunday. Disbrow had been on the critical list since that time. Mrs. Disbrow's condition today was listed as "good."

According to the state police Disbrow was shot in the abdomen by Mrs. Disbrow's former husband, Frederick Linsley Roessler, 56, of Saugerties, who later died of self-inflicted gunshot wounds. Mrs. Disbrow was pistol-whipped on the head several times by her former husband, when he went to the Disbrow home in Palenville to talk with her about their two teenage daughters, police said. The daughters were in camp at Lake George at the time of the shooting.

Unbearable Girl, 7, Is Strangled By Her Mother

NEW YORK (AP) — A mother has been accused of strangling her seven-year-old daughter with a towel because the child became "unbearable."

Police said Mrs. Ruth Passman, 34, admitted strangling the child, Elaine, who was found on the living room floor of her Bronx apartment by her uncle, Isidor Milinsky.

Mrs. Passman lay on the bathroom floor, her arm slashed by a razor. She was booked on a homicide charge. Outside of saying the child was annoying her, Mrs. Passman gave no further explanation, authorities said.

Milinsky ran several blocks with the child to a hospital, but she was dead on arrival. Mrs. Passman is separated from her husband.

Mrs. Kerr Is Elected

Mrs. Chadbourne Resigns Position At Senate House

Mrs. Emily C. Chadbourne of Stone Ridge submitted her resignation as president of the Senate House Association, explaining that ill health made it impossible for her to continue, it was announced today.

Mrs. Chadbourne served as a trustee even before the museum was built, and has been president since 1949. Her name is second on the museum's registration book, which was started the day the museum opened.

At a recent meeting the trustees accepted Mrs. Chadbourne's resignation with regret and expressed deep appreciation for her years of service to the Senate House and Museum, and for the many contributions she has made to both.

It was Mrs. Chadbourne who started the unusual and remarkable doll collection in the Senate House. Over the years she has added to it as she has travelled around and found suitable items. In the same way, she has added other valuable things to both the Senate House and the museum. She was responsible for the restoration of many of the paintings in the museum, especially the Livingston Collection.

The trustees elected Mrs. Albert S. Kerr of New Paltz president to succeed Mrs. Chadbourne. Mrs. Kerr has been a trustee since 1954 and has served as vice president since 1958. Mrs. Lincoln Crosby of Kingston was elected vice president. Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly of Kingston is secretary and Holt N. Winfield of Ulster Park is treasurer.

A three piece set of copper lustre presented by Mrs. Edith Preston Boyer and her brother, Carlton E. Preston; two sperm oil lamps which had belonged to Christopher K. Kiersted and James W. Beekman, presented by Ralph Deyo; and a mahogany can with gold head bearing the inscription "1839-1889 J. S. Bray from his wife," presented by Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Fisher were accepted by the trustees.

The trustees also accepted pamphlets, scrapbooks, papers, and other items from the estate of Ralph D. Clearwater.

The trustees further agreed to accept the Lafayette sword and to arrange an appropriate ceremony when this is presented to the museum.

The Board of Trustees of Kingston Academy offered historic materials from the early days of the academy to the Senate House Museum:

1. The original minute book of the Academy Trustees, 1795 and to suceeding minute books through 1864.

2. Receipts, contracts, inventories, correspondence and other papers, prior to 1864.

3. The original, official seal of the Academy Trustees, dating circa 1795.

The trustees of the Senate House Association "accepted these valuable documents with deep appreciation" and plan to arrange an appropriate ceremony for their presentation during this "Year of History."

Find Youth Hanged At Kinderhook Lake

A 16-year-old honor student of Hudson High School was found dead and hanging from his belt Friday in his family cottage at Kinderhook Lake, Columbia County.

Claverack troopers said the body of Roger Rowen was found about 2:30 p. m. by his stepmother, Mrs. Earl L. Rowen Sr., of State Street, Hudson.

Coroner Robert H. Near Jr., of Philmont and state police reported there was no note. Near withheld verdict pending investigation by his office and the state police BCI. He said the boy was a junior at high school and a straight-A student with no apparent problems.

Infant Is Left On County Road In Ravena Area

RAVENA, N. Y. (AP) — Baby G rested in a hospital today while State Police attempted to learn who left him in a market basket beside a county road.

The infant boy, born about six days ago, was found Friday by 11-year-old Deborah Hotaling. The basket had been placed about 50 feet off Route 9W.

Two bottles, one filled and the other partially filled, were in the basket. There also was a copy of the baby's formula.

Dr. M. A. Colle, who examined the baby at Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill, described the 6-pound, 11-ounce boy as perfectly healthy. The doctor said he believed birth was not attended by a physician.

Nurses at the hospital named the infant Baby G in honor of State Police from Troop G who took him to the hospital.

They were: Marion Clark of Columbia, S. C.; Edwin Ricks of Rocky Mount, N. C.; Gerald Smith of Gettysburg, Pa.; and Helene Ulrich of Saskatoon, Sask., Canada.

Says State Owed $45,000 From Last Heavyweight Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz says New York State is owed close to $45,000 in taxes accruing from the heavyweight championship fight between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson.

Lefkowitz announced Friday he has begun a probe aimed at recovering the money from the June bout at Yankee Stadium.

He said he will couple this investigation with one already started into possible violation of the state's anti-trust laws by persons connected with promotion of the fight.

The money due the stat, Lefkowitz said, was on the basis of five per cent of the gross receipts, which he said amounted to about $936,920. He said his office has examined the books and records of Floyd Patterson Enterprises Ltd., and has interviewed representatives of Teleprompter Inc., and Rosensohn Enterprises, as well as other persons.

Lefkowitz said Rosensohn, the promoter, will be questioned next week after he testifies before the New York County grand jury.

Jim Farina Captures Woodstock Open With 2-Under Par 103

Edges Fred Lux By One Stroke in 27 Hole Classic

Jim Farina of Balston Spa upheld a family tradition by winning the Woodstock Open with a two-under par score of 103 for the 27 hold tournament Friday. Farina, younger brother of Armand Farina, (a five time winner), toured the village links in nine of 34-35-34 to finish a stroke ahead of smooth swinging Fred Lux of Dutchess Golf and Country Club, Poughkeepsie. Lux carded low nine of the day with a spectacular 31 on his third swing around the scenic layout, and missed a birdie putt from seven feet on the 27th hole which would have tied Farina for the lead. He posted nines of 34-39-31.

Armand Farina finished with a 34 to tie Alex Sinclair of Mohawk Club, Schenectady at 105.

Sig Makofsky, one of the top ranking amateurs in the area, led the amateur contingent with even par 105 on a sensational array of pars. His card showed 24 pars and three 3s and not a single five. He reeled off nine straight 4s on the first nine. Bill VanAken, Woodstock Country Club champion, was a stroke behind Makofsky at 106, although he missed enough short putts to win it all.

Pete VanKampen, an amateur and professionals Bob Smith of Wolferts Roost, Albany, and Guy Farina of Caroga Lake were locked at 107. Sharing at a three way tie at 108 were Walter Brown, United States Military Academy coach and former winner; Wally Pobol, Schenectady amateur and John Gaucas, rotund Northeastern PGA Secretary. Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie finished with 109, Alex Gerlak of Twaalfskill and two well known area amateurs, George Hughes of Twaalfskill and Herb Waterous of Woodstock tied at 111.

Farina fired his 103 despite a double bogey five on the 27th hole. He birdied the second, sixth and eighth holes the first time around, while bogeying the fourth and seventh. On his second swing, he reeled off nine straight pars. On the homestretch he had birdies on the second, fifth and seventh.

Makofsky's incredible card opened with 12 consecutive 4s.

Forty-eight players, including 23 professionals and 25 amateurs made up the field.

Grays Keep Lead In Eastern Loop

The Williamsport Grays have good hitting and good pitching going for them in the Eastern League pennant race. And they've got something else — the fact that their two closest rivals for the league lead are busy knocking each other off.

Williamsport banged out 19 hits to back up southpaw John Dewald in a 13-5 win over Reading Friday night. Meanwhile, Allentown and Springfield tangled again with the A-Sox coming out on top, 7-1. The victory left Springfield's 2½ games out of first place, with the Sox a half a game behind them.

A neat relief job by Pat Utley, Leroy Thomas' 20th homer of the season and Richie Windle's eighth, along with three hits apiece by Joe Arenivar and Don Brummer, all added up to a 10-3 victory for Binghamton over York.

Adios Butler Captures Big $110,994 Race at Roosevelt

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

WESTBURY, N. Y. (AP) — A year ago, Adios Butler might have been voted the best 2-year-old pacer in the land. But he developed a leg ailment in August and was laid up for the year after winning four of 10 starts and a mere $6,225.

The $225 represented a profit. The speedy colt who came near a world record in winning the $110,994 Messenger Stakes Friday night at Roosevelt Raceway in a sensational finish cost only $6,000 as a yearling.

Rested up and treated until June, Adios Butler made his 1959 debut at Yonkers Raceway where he finished second.

Paige West of Snow Hill, Md., co-owner, trainer and driver of the colt, then made a decision.

"This horse is too much for me, so I'll get a top driver and we'll see what we can do," said West. The selection was Clint Hodgins, the Canadian veteran.

Smart Decision

It was a smart decision. Clint has driven the colt in his last four starts, and the record is 4 for 4.

Going into the Messenger, Adios Butler had earned $50,501 this year. His first-place swag in the Messenger, richest race in the world for 3-year-old pacers, was $55,497, which means Adios Butler has averaged $21,000 per start in five races this year. His total winnings are $112,223.15.

Adios Butler finished a length ahead of Meadow Al, with Adios Oregon a head back in third place to give offspring of Adios the top three money spots.

The time was a 2:00 1-5 scorcher which clipped a full second off Adios Butler's own track record.

Bye Bye Byrd, powerful 4-year-old, seeks his third victory in this year's Harness Tracks of America Pace Series, at Monticello Raceway tonight.

He was rated a 3-5 favorite in a field of eight. He won the second leg last week with a record-equalling 1:59 2-5 mile at Batavia Downs. This time tied the world mark for 4-year-old pacers on a half-mile track.

The series of $7,500 events ends with a $50,000 finale at Roosevelt Raceway in October.

Bye Bye Byrd is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Rex Larkin.

Other feature-race results yesterday:

Batavia Downs — Jessie Colby ($10.60) won $6,000 leg of Sunset Gold trotting series in 2:03 3-5, a season's record at the track.

Saratoga Raceway—Lanza Hanover ($4.90) won the $5,000 Amsterdam Trot in 2:05 4-5.

Vernon Downs — Handsome Boy ($3.60) won the fourth leg of August trotting series in 2:02.

Monticello Raceway — Billy Lee Clay ($13) won $2,400 Invitational Pace in 2:04 2-5.

Harshman Helping Cleveland

Antonelli Nearing 20 Wins

Veteran Hurls Tribe to 5-0 Win Over Birds

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jack Harshman, unable to hold jobs with two clubs because he couldn't win, now is Cleveland's surprise crutch, giving the Indians the left-handed pitching Herb Score was supposed to deliver in their run for the American League pennant.

Harshman's bad back led to a "damaged goods" squawk by Baltimore after a 1957 winter deal with the Chicago White Sox. But he stuck with the Orioles and won 12 last year, three of them shutouts.

This season, his back still corseted, Harshman was 0-6 and the Birds traded him to Boston. He won two for the Red Sox, then lost three and they sold him to second-place Cleveland.

Now, with Cleveland scrambling to catch the White Sox, Harshman suddenly has won two, saved one and lost none—figuring in half of the Indians' six victories in their last 11 games.

Second Straight

The big southpaw, 32, won his second Friday night, blanking Baltimore on three singles for a 5-0 decision that gave the Injuns a three-game streak and left 'em within 2½ games of Chicago.

The White Sox cut their slump at two, coming from behind for a 5-4 edge over Washington as reliever Gerry Staley won his sixth straight.

New York belted Kansas City 9-7, and Detroit beat Boston 2-0 on Paul Foytack's four-hitter and Al Kaline's two-run homer.

Two Unearned Runs

The White Sox scored two unearned runs in the first, then had to come from behind after the Senators chased Dick Donovan with two in the sixth for a 3-2 edge. Johnny Romano's two-run pinch single got back the lead for Staley (7-3) in the sixth.

Foytack (12-10) walked but one and struck out eight, allowing one hit after the second inning for his first victory over Boston in five decisions. Kaline's 22nd home run came in the third against Bill Monbouquette (4-5). It followed a walk to Harvey Kuenn.

The Yankees blew 2-0 and 5-3 leads and finally needed Ryne Duren's save after the A's scored one in the ninth. With one out and the bases loaded, Duren struck out Joe DeMaestri and got Roger Maris on a foul.

Pitches Giants To 6-0 Shutout For 17th Victory

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been an odd season of success for Johnny Antonelli, San Francisco's lefty ace who was upset by "lousy fly balls," and who can't beat Milwaukee, yet is closing in on 20 victories for the first time in three years.

Since losing two straight three weeks ago (beaten by these fly balls that went for homers in the Giants' windy home park), Antonelli has won three of four decisions while San Francisco has jumped into the National League lead.

Widen Lead

Antonelli tied Milwaukee's Lew Burdette for the major league lead with his 17th victory Friday night. He did it with an eight-hitter that put the opener away as San Francisco moved 2½ games ahead with a 6-0 and 10-6 twinight doubleheader sweep at Philadelphia.

Second-place Los Angeles defeated Pittsburgh 6 - 5, but the third-place Braves fell five games behind when their game with the Chicago Cubs was rained out. Cincinnati defeated St. Louis 2-1.

Singles by Giants' Jackie Brandt and Orlando Cepeda dropped Robin Roberts (11-13) in the first inning. The Giants made it a breeze for Anty (17-7) with three in the sixth.

Young Mike McCormick (11-10) beat the Phils in the second game. He allowed only three hits, one Wally Post's 18th homer, but needed Stu Miller's relief after giving up his fifth walk in the seventh. The Giants got this one with seven runs in the fourth.

Dodgers Rally

The Dodgers came from behind with four runs in the seventh against Ronnie Kline (8-12), then scored the clincher in the ninth when the Bucs missed a double-play on a bases-loaded grounder by pinch-hitter Carl Furillo.

Reds' rookie Jay Hook (3 - 3) gave up a first-inning homer by Joe Cunningham, then blanked the Cards the rest of the way on four hits. He also singled and scored the winning run on Gus Bell's single off Larry Jackson (10-12) in the fifth.

Von Clay Knocks Out Sonny Ray

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"We'd fight Archie Moore tomorrow, if we could, and very probably we will soon," said Von Clay's happy manager, Anthony Graziano.

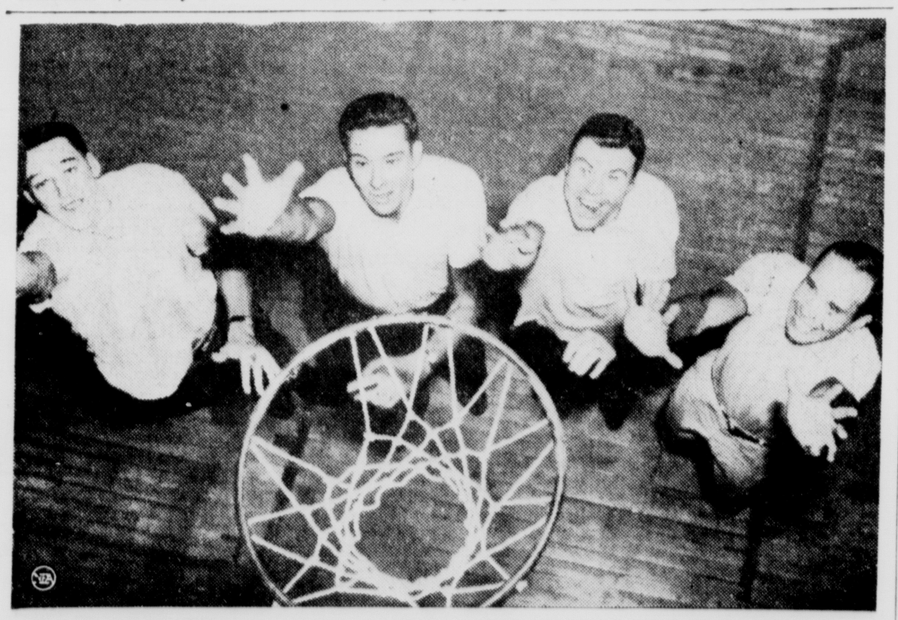
"We're guaranteeing Yvon Durelle $10,000 to fight Clay on Oct. 9 in Philadelphia," announced promoter Herman Taylor and matchmaker Pete Moran.

It seemed like optimistic talk regarding a 29-year-old fighter with only 11 pro fights, but that was the mood Friday night after Clay finished off Sonny Ray, the fourth-ranked lightheavyweight, in 56 seconds of the fifth round of a scheduled 10-rounder.

The decisive victory, in his first nationally televised (NBC) fight, meant that Clay had reached the top ranks of his division — and Ray's comments reflected the blow dealt to his career.

Three tentatively scheduled fights, the 23-year-old Chicagoan said, without going into detail, probably will have to be cancelled.

Ray, with a 19-8-5 record now, figured that the bad cut over his left eye was the reason Referee Zack Clayton stopped the fight.



CAN'T WAIT—When their equipment failed to arrive on time members of the United States basketball team in the Pan-American Games in Chicago worked out in street clothes at the nearby Glenview Naval Air Station. The four going through the motions of shooting are, left to right, Bob Jeangerard and Burdette Halderson of Colorado, St. Louis University's Dick Boushka and Kentucky's Billy Evans. The Pan-American Games run from Aug. 27 to Sept. 7.

Rotary, Legion Win Babe Ruth League Contests

Rotary nipped Kiwanis, 5-1, and the Legion walloped the 35 Club, 12-5, in Babe Ruth League games recently. The Legion also dropped the Vets, 6-3, but the box score was not submitted correctly.

Bill Murphy hurled a two hitter for Kiwanis but his support was almost non-existant and he lost a tough one. The losers had only three base hits off the slants of Burns. Murphy walked six and struck out 17 in a splendid performance.

The Legion started against the 35 Club with a five run first inning and then clinched matters with a six run cluster in the fourth. Natale, Fiore and Brown homered while Natale also had a pair of booming doubles. Winning pitcher McAndrew had the only three hits compiled by the Legion side.

Glasco Advances In District 15 LL Tournament

John Crispino doubled and then worked his way to home plate in the sixth inning yesterday as Glasco nipped Catskill, 7-6, in the semi-finals of the District 15 round robin tournament at the Lions Club Little League stadium.

The Braves, who won the Glasco - East Kingston circuit with 18 straight wins, had to fight hard to stay unbeaten. They took an early 6-1 lead and then saw Catskill score twice in the fifth and then score three runs more in the sixth before going under.

Frank Serravallo won it in relief. Dom Beardi led the hitting attacks with two doubles and a single. Serravallo stroked two safeties and Crispino had his clutch double.

Catskill had only hits, but wildness on the part of the Glasco chuckers kept the team in scoring position. Beardi walked 13 batters, Serravallo issued one walk and Crispino two.

SAN FRANCISCO (NEA)—Gene Fullmer was an all-round athlete at Jordan, Utah, High School.

Fullmer, who fights Carmen Basilio in San Francisco, Aug. 28, for the National Boxing Association version of the middleweight championship, was a top mile runner and won letters in football and basketball, but found the latter two games too rough. He suffered a knee injury in football which hampered his early boxing.

Fullmer recalls and is greatful for a special night of amateur boxing held in 1949 to raise money to correct his trick knee.

Airport Greeting Is Greatest for 'Kookie' Byrnes

CHICAGO (AP)—They came to worship their idol Kookie. "This," he signed, "is Real antville."

Some fainted, others sobbed with delight and still others surged toward him to gaze into his face, crowned with a crop of curly hair.

And so went the mass love affair between Ed "Kookie" Byrnes and 18,000 cheering bobby soxers Friday at Midway Airport, signalling his Chicago arrival.

The singing and acting star smiled, waved and blew kisses to his teen-age flock, described as the largest crowd ever to greet an entertainer at the airport.

They showered Kookie with a barrage of combs—a reminder of his TV hair-combing routine role on 77 Sunset Strip. The bobby sox set was rewarded.

"This is Real ant ville," said Kookie, 26, describing the crowd. "All these youngsters coming out to see me is the maximum - utmost."

Momentarily, away from his frantic worshipers, Kookie confided to newsmen:

"But enough of this Kookie - talk. This isn't how I, Edward J. Byrnes, really talk. I like to do it for the teen-agers because I think each new generation usually finds something all its own.

"Jive-talk gives the boys and girls of today something private and personal through which they can communicate with one another — to be outside the adult world which surrounds them."

Watchman Ready For World Solo Hop in Plane

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Peter Gluckman, 33, the flying watchmaker, soars away today on his most ambitious journay — a solo world flight in a single-engine plane to chalk up a world record.

A sign on his watch shop reads: "Back on Sept. 8 (I hope)."

Gluckmann, a 6-foot 240-pound German-born American, has the assurance of the world's official flying organization — the Federation Aeronautique Internationale —that if he makes it, it will be the only official globe-circling flight ever made under federation rules.

Adlai Returns

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, back from Europe, says the pending exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is regarded abroad as a "great achievement" for the Soviet leader.

Stevenson held an hour - long press conference at Idlewild Airport Friday.

He reiterated that he was not a candidate for the presidency in 1960.

On the forthcoming Eisenhower-Khrushchev meetings, he said he detected in Eruope "some anxiety about secret diplomacy, but I am sure the President's visit to Europe will relieve that anxiety."

Rockefeller's Son

trip to the hills of Wyoming with his bride were found out.

Steven met Anne Marie while she worked as a maid in the Rockefeller's Fifth Avenue home in New York.

The Cinderella romance caught the imagination of the world and brought foreign newsmen and television crews into this usually quiet village along with crowds of tourists and others. Extra police had to be hired.

The wedding reception and dinner will be held at the Kristiansand Club called the "Society Club" and sometimes the "White House."

Caution Is . . .

suitable area where the county volunteers might have a central location for holding demonstrations of fire fighting equipment and also as a center for company activities and demonstrations of fire fighting methods.

35 Acres Desired

At a recent meeting of the Association, President Majestic called attention to the need for such a central site and suggested that any public spirited citizen who might have an area of some 35 acres, contact him or other officials of the Association in regard to donating the use of the land.

Presently in Ulster county area there are over 70 volunteer fire companies, all working for the public good and Majestic said a central point where these companies could meet, run off demonstrations and acquire up-to-the-minute instruction in use of modern fire fighting equipment would be of vast importance to the people of the county.

It was also suggested that with a central meeting point, the leading manufacturers of fire-fighting equipment would be more willing to demonstrate their products and give the county volunteers an insight in what is latest in fire fighting equipment and technique.

Thomas Beecham, 80, Secretary, 27, Elope

LONDON (AP) — Sir Thomas Beecham, the petulant patriarch of the podium, wound up a satisfactory recording of Handel's "The Great Elopment." Then the 80-year-old British maestro and his 27-year-old secretary, Shirley Hudson, left the study together—and eloped.

Sir Thomas, conductor of the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, is as irascible as ever whether performing or expounding his views on things and people. Friends described his bride as a tranquilizing influence who may finally tame him. She is his third wife.

Their elopement was kept secret until today when Sir Thomas himself— presumably honeymooning in Switzerland—advertised it in a London newspaper.

Steel Negotiations

shares in the latest week, compared zith 13,879,815 shares in the previous week and 12,270,245 shares in the same week last year. Bond sales had a par value of $24,811,000 in the latest week against $30,325,200 the week before and $24,130,700 in the same 1958 week.

Mitchell's report was followed by a rash of rumors that agreement had been reached to end the strike. And just as promptly came emphatic denials from top industry and union negotiators.

Plan Weekend Work

But, as the dreary negotiations recessed Friday afternoon, there were signs that the White House warning might have been taken to heart. Both sides promised to work separately over the weekend, seeking out points they might agree on.

Monday they'll meet face to face again to hammer out the language of a new wage contract.

Effects of the steel shutdown, already apparent in a sharp drop-off in coal production and rail freight traffic, reached into the giant auto industry this week.

James Roche, boss of General Motors' Cadillac Division, said Cadillac will run into serious production problems if the strike isn't settled soon.

The 1960 Caddies are scheduled to go on public display Oct. 2. If the manufacturer doesn't get some steel in the next few weeks, Roche said, Cadillac dealers may have nothing to sell but samples.

Cadillac, list most other American automakers, has stopped building 1959 cars. Some, notably Chevrolet, are already making 1960 models.

Wide '59 Assortment

For the buyer interested in a 1959 car, dealers this week had a wide assortment. Inventories were around the 900,000 mark. Sales moved forward briskly.

New car prices have been going down a bit, as they normally do toward the end of the model year.

Used car prices—and prices of just about everything else you buy—have risen slightly.

The trend is mirrored in the index, announced Friday. The index—which measures living costs for July—edged up to a new peak: 124.9 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

This means, according to government calculations, that you need $1.25 to buy what $1 would have bought 11 years ago.

The index for June was 124.5 per cent. In July last year it was 123.9. About one-fourth of the June to-July rise was accounted for by state and local taxes—mainly taxes on cigarettes and restaurant meals.

Business in Brief

Briefly over the business scene: Unperturbed by strikes, Khrushchev or the Wall Street fever chart, American consumers are spending as they never spent before. Department store sales in the nation last week topped 1958 by six per cent . . . Despite a sharp drop in steel industry payrolls, total personal income of Americans in July reached a record annual rate of more than 384 billion dollars . . . Auto dealers in the United States sold more than three million cars in the first six months this year, including 289,000 foreign models . . . Economy note: Oldsmobile's 1960 line will include a car that runs on low-cost "regular" gasoline. The other 1960 Oldsmobiles, as heretofore, will require premium-priced, high - test fuel . . . Brunswick Balke - Collender Co., bowling equipment manufacturer, says there are now more women bowlers in the world than men. Not too many years ago, the bowling alley was considered a man's exclusive domain . . . Licensed Beverage Industries Inc., a liquor trade group, reports that beer, wine and liquor taxes enriched federal, state and municipal offers last year by four million dollars.
